INTERESTED IN BECOMING A DVRT?

Volunteers are also needed to help in both counties with the Domestic Violence Response Teams (DVRTs). DVRT team members — who are specially trained volunteers — respond directly to police stations to talk to victims after an incident of domestic violence.

For more information about joining one of the county teams, contact one of our DVRT specialists:

Burlington County: Kim Jewitt at 856-824-0599 or kjewitt@cctrenton.org

Ocean County: Mike Kovac at 732-350-2120 or mkovac@cctrenton.org

Volunteering can be personally rewarding and enables people to be able to make a real difference in the lives of individuals, families and communities.
